2016 SEI Graduate Student Chapter of the Year

SEIGSC-WVU takes part in High School Visitation Day

Morgantown, West Virginia -

The Structural Engineering Institute Graduate Student Chapter at West Virginia University actively participated in the second open house event organized by the Benjamin M. Statler College of Engineering and Mineral Resources on March 30, 2019. The Chapter's participation in this event has helped high school students and their families to become familiar with WVU's civil/structural engineering program. As a part of this event, SEIGSC-WVU setup a table displaying variety of composite specimens such as pultruded bridge decks, fiberglass composite wrapped timber poles, fiberglass rebar, wood- and foam- core sandwich decks, nondestructive testing equipment and others. SEIGSC-WVU Chapter officers shared their academic and research experiences with prospective students and their families. This event has attracted more than 400 guests.

APRIL UPDATE

SEIGSC-WVU Guest Speaker Presentation by Distinguished Professor

Morgantown, West Virginia -

On April 1, 2019, Dr. Hota GangaRao, Maurice A. and Jo Ann Wadsworth Distinguished Professor of Civil and Environmental Engineering at West Virginia University, presented a guest lecture on “Fiber Reinforced Composites and Applications to Civil Infrastructure.” This presentation was geared towards providing basic knowledge on Fiber Reinforced Composites including their advantages, limitations, market potential and field applications. The presentation also featured several award-winning research projects completed by the WVU’s Constructed Facilities Center since its inception in 1988. A total of 45 students attended the guest lecture and interacted with the guest speaker.
